Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

Fruits and vegetables have their favorite habitats. In Taft in the lower end of the San Joaquin valley, grow potatoes that are the peer of those exported from Aroostook county, Maine. In both the Sacramento Valley and San Joaquin the tomato finds numerous localities where it burgeons into superlative red lusciousness. Around Camptonville on a few southern sunny hillside exposuses we believe the finest table grapes in California are grown. This is their season in the Nevada County market. Wines produced from the hillside grapes of Napa and Sonoma counties are undoubtedly the best in California.

But of all fruits grown north of the Tropic of Cancer, none surpasses the apple in popular esteem. The apple has a history, if we believe the Good Book, as old or older than the human race. We have often suspected that the apple grown in the Garden of Eden, was grown too far south in the lush bottom lands of the Euphrates in a climate far too warm in the winter time for producing good apples.

When Eve, having herself partaken of one of these soft pulpy apples grown under subtropical conditions, offered her freshly created husband one of these beautiful but inferior fruits, we suspect that it soured on Father Adam's stomach and thus gave the poor man dyspepsia. If this were the case, and it seems a very reasonable deduction, knowing what the climate and soil conditions of the Euphrates were umpty umpt thousands of years ago, and knowing how brides often offer their grooms raw fruit and vegetables rather than assay hazardous experiments in cooking a square meal, it seems very likely that the downfall of Man was caused not by Original Sin but by dyspepsia. For by casual observation anyone may see for himself the vast discontent that flows from this ailment.

If Adam could have only eaten an apple from Nevada County the race might have been saved from its many tribulations. For Nevada County apples are high in vitamine contents, low in acid. They not only please the eye with their lovely colors and delight the olofactory organ with a fragrance in which is compressed all the clean spicy odors of earth, but they offer a world of pleasure to the palate, for mere masticationn of this fruit approximates heavenly joy. And after the apple is reduced to pulp and has paused at its way-station in the stomach, it rests there lightly, generously giving off its calories and healthful beneficence to the human system, renewing energies and zest for living.

So there are apples and so-called apples. The one Old Nick offered the unsuspecting bride, Eve, and innocent Eve in turn offered to innocent Adam, was unquestionably not only an inferior apple, but was a poisonous apple that forever cursed the race with dyspepsia. Eating these mushy, acid fruits, unquestionably put Cain into a murderous temper and caused him to slay his own brother.

It follows that before eating an apple, first select, smell, view and feel it. Test gently with thumb and index finger. Three tests you can give it before tasting it, for most grocers will resent the customer's taking a bite out his apples. If it tests well, buy a nickel's worth, and give it the final test. Slowly munch an apple in the store all the while engaging the clerk in pleasant converse, because if you don't someone may get ahead of you and order the box while you are debating the question. Then if the final test, taste is satisfied, order the box, the very same box you bought a nickel's worth from, and found genuine. Otherwise you may get a box of so-called apples from somewhere in the lush low lands, and several weeks of dyspepsia into the bargain. Be safe, order Nevada County apples, Winesaps, Delicious, Pearmains, any kind, they are all good if grown in Nevada County.

All our complex reactions to environment in mature years, we are told by psychoanalyists are due to things that happened when we were children, something that bent the twig the way the tree inclines. We have discovered why so many upstanding Americans dislike, with a kind of personal dislike the Man in the White House. It is very simple. When we were children and an argument arose with the male parent, in which we were balked in what we wanted to do, or compelled to do what we did not want to do, the final word, the clincher that fell from the parental lips was: "Papa knows best." It is this assumption of being a Great White Father to his people that now galls the individualistic American most of all. Alf Landon voiced this discontent in a great many words recently over the radio. We have established a government of laws, not of men or a A MAN. We now resent having an argument closed by the equivalent of: "Papa knows best."

Hydraulic Mine Assn. Visits Yuba Dam Site

By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE

The California Hydraulic Miners Association officers and members visited the site of the Narrow dam on the Yuba river near Smartville last Saturday afternoon. Director W. G. Allen met those who arrived at Smartville and conducted them to the dam site at 10 a. m. Only a small proportion of the officers and members of this association have been at the dam site, although they have long been working for the construction of the dam, now authorized by the federal government.

C. W. Bartlett, construction engineer, who has been in charge of the work since it started, reported that the core drilling will be finished in about two weeks and the next step will be to obtain bids for contracts for the actual construction work.

The association was the first large group to visit the site of the proposed dam. Among the visitors was president George Hallock of Alleghany; vice president Claud Clark of North Bloomfield; Major W. O. Harris of the army engineer corps; postmaster Thomas Geanalli of Marysville; Fred Harvey of Galt; W. C. Martin, inspector for the Farm Security Administration; W. E. Clerkin, Wade Oden, James Murphy and William Snook of North San Juan.

At one o'clock the association met at the Marysville Hotel for lunch when a director's meeting was held. At 2:30 the regular meeting was called to order with George Hallock presiding. The introductory speech was made by Vice President Claud Clark.

The president then turned the meeting over to Director Lou Eichler. After an appropriate speech in which he commended the farmers and the miners in their successful efforts to forget all the prejudices that existed in the old days, Eichler introduced City Councilman Leo J. Smith, who gave an address of welcome. Smith, speaking for the business men of Marysville, acknowledged the fact that the revived hydraulic industry will benefit the valley people as well as the miners of the mountains.

Lou Eichler then presented a mock wedding in which Mr. John Hydraulic Miner and Miss Yuba City were successfully united in marriage, symbolizing that henceforth the mining industry and the agricultural units will live in harmony.

The principals in this ceremony were Mrs. Ruth Sparrow Sitton as the bride and W. B. Clerkin of North San Juan was the bridegroom. Earl K. Lane was best man and the bride was given away by Mayor Ed. E. Benham of Yuba City. Charles P. Martin was preacher and Ray Phillips musician.

The bride, representing a prosperous agricultural woman was dressed in a lovely afternoon ensemble and carried a huge bouquet of flowers. The bridegroom wore hip-boots, slicker annd miner's hat The wedding ring was a silver bell.

That this meeting was important in the annals of northern California was emphasized by the powerful and brilliant speeches made by Congressman Clarence F. Lea; Senator W. P. Rich; W. G. Allen of Smartville, Fred Harvey, James K. O'Brien of Smartville; Charles E. Gilmore of Sacramento and H. H. Dunning of Marysville.

The next regular meeting of the California Hydraulic Miners Association will be held in North San Juan November 4. This meeting will be held in the evening at Twamley Memorial hall at 7:30. After the meeting there will be good old mountain music, dancing and refreshments. The public as well as the members are invited to bring their friends and allow them the pleasure of meeting the mud-miners on home territory.

Visitors never forget historical old North San Juan—the town with a glorious past and a brilliant future.

SALVAGE IN FIRE SWEPT AREA IS 15 MILLION FT.

Approximately fifteen million board feet of pine timber will be salvaged from the area that was fire killed near Foresthill last October according to DeWitt Nelson, forest supervisor of the Tahoe National Forest at Nevada City. Nelson expects that the Setzer Box Company of Sacramento will have salvaged approximately twelve million board feet by the time they will have to close down operations this year and it is hoped that they will be able to begin operations next spring in order to salvage the balance before the blue stain appears that will destroy the fire killed timber's usefulness for commercial purposes. Experienced lumbermen have stated to Nelson that the sugar pine coming out of this area is of the highest quality they have ever seen. Nelson says that there is an excellent opportunity for anyone interested in the manufacture of pencil stock to salvage the eight million board feet of cedar that was fire killed on this same area. He does not expect that it will be affected by blue stain as is the pine.

STATE REVOKES AND SUSPENDS 665 LICENSES

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 25.—Following up on rigid regulation of drivers' licenses as an adjunct to the constantly increasing campaign for greater safety on the highways, the State Department of Motor Vehicles suspended 522 licenses and ordered 143 revocations during September.

The figures were announced today in a report submitted by Director Ray Ingels at a meeting of department heads in a monthly council session with Governor Merriam.

During the month the department also ordered 90 license holders to appear for re-examination, including 20 persons who were involved in accidents and who were reported to have developed physical disabilities.

Driving applications took a decided spurt during the month with the result that 78,994 licenses were issued, an increase of 6.88 per cent over the corresponding month of 1936. Of this total 19,575 or 24.8 per cent were original applications.

GLENBROOK DAIRY RANCH, 40 ACRES, SOLD

Earl P. Sutton, Glenbrook dairyman, sold his farm of about 40 acres to George A. Legg of Nevada City the deal being closed Saturday. Mr. Sutton will conduct the dairy until he disposes of the stock and equipment. His father the late A. D. Sutton started the dairy and it has been operated since the early nineties.

George A. Legg adds to his extensive holdings in the Glenbrook district through the purchase. He has constructed many new homes on property lying south of this tract. The ranch is on the Nevada City-Grass Valley highway in a well drained spot with good roads and with light and water easy to secure.

HUNDRED LIQUOR DEALERS FROM 3 COUNTIES MEET

Over a hundred liquor dealers, members of the California Federated Institute gathered this afternoon in the banquet room of the National hotel to hear several speakers prominent either in the organization or the enforcement of the liquor laws. The meeting was a joint gathering of liquor dealers in Placer, Nevada and El Dorado counties.

Among the speakers were Richard Collins, member of the State Board of Equalization, R. W. Martland, secretary of the C. F. I., Jake Bettincourt, president of the organization, Chester Smith, Senator A. P. Pierovich of Amador, Russell Farley, county enforcement officer, and others. Ted Janiss, county chairman of the organnization, presided.

Martland stressed the importance of furthering legislation to the advantage of the liquor business and of killing off legislation that might injure the dealers engaged in the business. He stated that local units of the association were expected "to turn on the heat' on the legislators in their own community whenever this seemed desirable. He declared that dealing in liquor, was a privilege and not a right.

Sheriff Carl Tobiassen, called on for a few words stated that the state law made him, jointly responsible with the Board of Equalization supervisor, Russell Farley, for enforcement of liquor enforcement and thus far there had been very little trouble in this county. He said, however, that when he has visited some places where liquor was sold, he found the proprietors very resentful. He declared that was the wrong attitude and was glad to note that it was disappearing.

DRUNK DRIVING OFTEN EXPENSIVE

"John Barleycorn" is a dangerous passenger.

This was the theme of a statement today by the public safety department of the California State Automobile Association discussing the risks that a motorist is exposed to if he drives when he has been drinking.

"We all know that driving while intoxicated is dangerous to other motorists and to pedestrians," the statement said. "But what the intoxicated driver usually fails to realize is that it is dangerous for him, too; not only the physical danger, but because it may cost him as much as $5000 or five years in prison, or both fine and imprisonment.

"Drunk driving may be only a misdemeanor, punishable by a $50 to $500 fine or one to six months in jail. But if by direct action or neglect a driver injures anyone while he, the driver, is under the influence of liquor, then drunk driving becomes a felony punishable by a $200 to $5000 fine or one to five years in prisan, or both fine and imprisonment, and revocation of the driver's license for a year or more.

"You'd say it was good business to invest in a $3 taxicab bill to save anywhere from $50 to $500 in fines, or the stigma of prison, or, more important than all, to keep one's conscience free of the burden of having maimed or killed a fellow being.

"By resolutely refraining from driving if he has been drinking the motorist not only protects his money and his liberty but he also shows regard for the welfare of others."

EAT THAT DEER MEAT

Youthful Tarzans, Missing 2 Days, Found

They had been looking at Tarzan comics in newspapers and made up their minds to rough it awhile in the woods. So Donald and Jimmie McCloud, two bright youngsters, one eleven and the other twelve years old, just disappeared. They live on the Red Dog road near the cemetery and they left home nine o'clock Saturday morning and they were only found and returned home this morning, after a diligent search by Officer Charlie Ninnis, Deputy Sheriffs Larsen and Woods, and four volunteer high school boys who scouted the woods along Deer Creek.

Jimmie was the first to be caught. Ninnis spotted him this morning in some brush along the creek and the boy leaped and ran like a wild goat over the boulders and away. Ninnis did his level best to put up a sprint equal to the runaway lad, but it was no use. Providence intervened however. Jimmie started with a hop, skip and jump across Deer Creek, slipped and fell ker-plunk into a pool and Ninnis nabbed him before he could get going again.

But Donald, the younger was still missing, for two or three hours after the "posse" had flushed Jimmie and got him home. Officer Ninnis looked high and low and could not find him, until a kindly neighbor gave him the tip that she had seen two boys playing back on an old barn on top of the Boulder street hill yesterday. So Ninnis thought he would take a peek in that barn, and he barely opened the door when a shrill voice called from a hiding place somewhere in the rear: "Look out, Charlie, that cow will hook!" But Ninnis was not afraid of cows. He got the youngster by the hand and led him home, where his mother held out her hand to him and he troptted up and took it with never a word.

Both boys profess to have had nothing to eat since Saturday, but Ninnis, knowing boys and the number of peach and apple trees along back yards in Deer Creek hardly believes that. The father and mother who have done little sleeping the last two nights were glad to get the two runaways back even if they were terrible Tarzans.

SOME FOREST ROADS CLOSED

Show, at San Francisco, issued under authority of Regulation T-3, Section H of the Regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture and are made to prevent damage to the road bed during wet weather. These roads were constructed for use only during the summer season, Nelson says, and considerable damage is done to them by travel over them during the winter season. Nothing within the order shall be construed to deprive actual residents in the forest from reasonable opportunity to travel to and from their homes according to Nelson.

Congress Meets

When November's special session is over, congressmen will find a legislative hamper chock-full of equally pressing issues when they gather on Capitol Hill in January.

Our lawmakers will need the sharp-bladed wisdom of Solomon, the long-suffering patience of Job, and the mellow disposition of Griselda, if they are to wrestle triumphantly with such hard-shelled foes of economic well-being as unemployment, rising costs of goods in farm and city, and the need of finding jobs for the one and a half milion people still on WPA.

Moreover, there's the certainty that big and little business, and the consumer, will be affected by a new batch of rules and regulations promoted by feromrist congressmen.

Even in last session's hubbub of regulation, over-zealous politicians—against the wishes of the President—successfully resorted to a "sneaker" amendment to get provisions of the Anti-Trust laws suspended so arbitrary prices could be set up for manufactured goods. Consumers are now footing the higher prices this "regulation" brought about.

With over-regulation telling business, big and small, how much it shall charge for goods and how much the consumer must pay, reformist legislators, are rapidly turning America into a lawyer's paradise with their innumerable, and frequently, contradictory statutes.

Congress, indeed, has a big job cut out for it at the special session, and an even bigger one in January. So have the citizens of California if they fulfill their job of maintaining a watchful vigil over Congress, lest it spread the contagion of corruption involved in government control.—Contributed.

A Wise Man's Pennies

If there was ever a wise and thrifty American, it was Benjamin Franklin, Esq., merchant, inventor, philosopher and statesman.

We mention this not because there is any dispute about it, but because it helps shed light on a matter the editor must tackle every now and then. But since this matter of advertising is of vital importance to the reader too, the editor may be pardoned for bringing the subject up.

Ben Franklin, who was never a man to squander his pence, well knew the value of advertising not only his own, but his family's goods, in the newspapers—even in the 1720's when Philedalphia's population numbered but a handful. Though certain a man's sins would find him out, Franklin didn't believe the same held true of a merchant's goods, no matter how excellent they were. His wife, Deborah, had in stock a very good grade of toilet soap, but instead of depending on the neighbors to noise it about, he told the town about it in the "Pennsylvania Gazette."

Here's a typical ad of Franklin's: "Just import'd from Lond. and to be sold by B. Franklin, at the Post-Office near the Market in Philadelphia. All sorts of fine Paper, Parchment, Ink-Powder, fountain Pens (!), fine Pewter stands proper for Offices and Counting Houses . . . "

Wise merchants back in the 1700's were telling the townsmen about their goods in the communnity's newspaper. Wise merchants of the 1930's are doing the same. They, like Ben Franklin, know where a penny can be turned to the most good.—Contributed.

"PUT IT THERE!"

From Aunt Sarah

A good dinner for fall days may be built around veal in casserole. Stewed tomatoes, lettuce salad with French dressing and apple pie with the veal make a fine hearty combination.

Veal in Casserole

One thick veal cutlet for each one to be served.

One egg.

One cup dressing (as for roast chicken) for each serving.

Breadcrumbs.

Grease casserole and place dressing in a mound in it. Beat egg slightly with one tablespoon cold water. Dip veal in cracker or breadcrumbs, then in beaten egg and in crumbs again. Place veal snugly on top of dressing and bake in moderately hot oven for about forty minutes.

AUTHOR OF NEV. COUNTY HISTORY IS VISITOR

Harry G. Wells, author of "Nevada County History" published in 1880, and party of friends from Los Angeles stopped over in Nevada City for a short time Wednesday calling at the Nugget office Mr. Wells stated he did not own one of his books but had put it in a library.

A rugged and active man it was a pleasure to hear him tell of early days. He spent the winter of 1879 and 1880 in this city. Mr. Wells had the experience of going to Truckee and helping to get the trains over the mountains in deep snow. At that time four engines were hooked together and driven at a rapid rate down hill clearing the track as far as possible and when they stopped crews came and dug them out. Today's snow plow is a long stride in advancement.

With his party they drove from Los Angeles to Yosemite Valley. Placerville, Lake Tahoe, Truckee and over the Tahoe-Ukiah highway to this city. They went to Marysville and Sacramento.

GIFT FROM GIFTED ALUMNEES

In 1887, David M. Mattison graduated from Nevada City high school. During a successful literary career he became the distinguished historian of the United States Sesquicentennial Commission. Recently Mr. Mattison presented the Nevada City high school with a shrine of the Constitution of the United States and also ten copies of "The Story of the Constitution" by Sol Blovin, for which the historian designed the book plate. The presentations are being made in connection with the celebration of the sesquicentennial anniversary of the signing of the Constitution which will be celebrated from 1937 to 1939. The high school appreciates the awards and wishes to thank Mr. Mattison for them.

GIRLS TENNIS TOURNEY

The girls tennis tournament has caused some excitement and competition at the high school. Ruth Godfrey, Laurel Biggs, Madge Pianezzi, Vella Flint, Jean Martz, Alice Graham and Jane Bennett entered the tournament. Ruth Godfrey, Jean Martz and Vella Flindt reached the semi-finals. Now Jean Martz and Ruth Godfrey are competing for championships in the finals. Ruth Godfrey was last year's champion, and everyone wonders whether she will be able to keep this title.

BASKETBALL

The high school C basketball team played Grant Union's C team Friday in the high school gym. Grant Union was victorious but both teams played good games. This is the first time that Nevada City has entered her C team in the C .I. F. league. The members of the team are Kirk Martin, Charles Thomas, Ellsworth Pingree, Ronald Joyal and Clare Bishop. Mr. Leslie, their coach states that with a little more practice he thinks the C team will be a fine and fast one.

CAPT. BLAKE IS SPEAKER

Joe Blake was guest speaker for the Nevada City high school Friday in assembly. His talk was on traffic rules and regulations. Everyone felt his sincere desire to impress upon the younger generation the significance of careful driving. He gave some interesting illustrations to emphasize his points and answered any questions of the students. When he left everyone was resolved to think of his motto: "More safety in driving, longer life for everyone."

Pacific Greyhound wins award

For most efficient maintenance, Pacific Greyhound Lines has been named winner of the 1937 Maintenance Award by BUS TRANSPORTATION magazine, according to an announcement just received by R. M. Ahrens (inset), General Superintendent of Maintenance and Equipment for the bus company.

The winning of the Gold Award by Pacific Greyhound is especially significant because the company is the largest of all inter-city lines in America. During the past year it operated 450 buses in all parts of the West to accumulate a total annual mileage in excess of 31 million miles.

"SUGGESTION BOX" FOR TRINITY CHURCH

At the regular Sunday morning service at Trinity Episcopal church Rev. Chas. Washburn took the words of "Work out your own salvation for it is God who worketh in you," for his text. The text was found n the Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Philippians, Chapter 2, 12th and 13th verses.

A sealed box has been placed in the church for the written depositing of suggestions by the parish members, friends, Sunday school teachers and children of the Sunday school. These suggestions can be signed or unsigned and may afford opportunity for improvement in either the church or the Sunday school activities. It is felt so often times some one might have a suggestion of vital interest to all concerned but just a little timid to express the same, hence the reason for this "suggestion box", which is likeable to a "question box." The box will remain in the church entrance through out the remainder of October and all of November months. Therefore if any one has any suggestions among these lines both Miss Hecker the superintendent of the Sunday school and Rev. Washburn the Rector would be indeed grateful for the same.

All are asked to reserve the evening of Sunday, November 7, for the annual Harvest Festival of many musical numbers. Further detailed announcements in later issues of this paper.

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL

by MAX BERNS

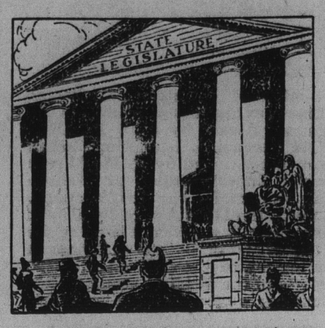

People Retain Power

Why and how do "we the people" retain power over our government?

"The framers of our Constitution," wrote the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, "did not believe that any man or any body of men could safely be entrusted with unlimited power. They thought, and all experience justified them in thinking, that human nature could not support the temptation which unlimited power always brings."

It is for this reason that our Constitution is made paramount to the goverment itself, restricts the power which it grants to our government, distributes what powers it does grant among three branches—Congress, the Executive and the Federal Courts; makes each branch independent of the others; declares that all powers not granted in the Constitution "are reserved to the States or to the people," and provides that amendments may be made not by Congress or the Executive or the Court but only by the people direct or through their State legislatures.

The reason for these provisions in our Constitution is to prevent our government or any one branch of it from becoming all powerful, autocratic and despotic.

LOOK OUTS ON DUTY

The Tahoe National Forest placed men on three lookouts this morning all of the men having been recalled after the heavy rain. Local Stations Now Get the Nation's Best Programs

Is your radio three years old or more? Does it bring all the fine things that are on the air today just as if "you're there in person"? Make this test. Hear your favorite program on a 1938 High Fidelity Radio. Note the difference.

Here's why. Your local broadcasting stations have spent fortunes to send out programs with wider range and depth of tone. Voice and music go forth as living sound. But most of this is lost if YOUR radio receiving set does not bring in these programs as clear and beautiful as when they left the studio.

Let your ears be the judge. Listen to quality radio reception from a quality radio set in your own home. Improved tubes, easier and more accurate tuning and high fidelity mechanism bring you studio realism. Ask your electrical dealer for a home demonstration with a 1938 radio today.
